

RECREATIONAL

Recreational kayaking involves leisure activities for the casual paddler on lakes, inlets, or flatwater streams. Recreational kayaks are characterized by a large cockpit opening for easy entry and exit, a wide hull for increased stability on the water, and a medium length for compromise between speed and maneuverability. Due to the wider hull, recreational kayaks will not track as well as sea kayaks but the extra stability makes them suitable for a wide range of paddlers and skill levels. They generally have less cargo space as well as limited capacity to keep water out of the boat since they are meant exclusively for calm water paddling. They come in solo and tandem models, can be used in a variety of settings, and are the perfect option for individuals or families looking for relaxed fun on the water. Recreational boats are generally less expensive than whitewater or touring kayaks, with less specialized designs and fewer advanced features. They presently make up the largest segment of kayak sales and are the most steadily growing market.

EXO – SHARK 2

The SHARK2 is a larger version of Shark 1 with standard equipment and similar features. This version can accommodate two adults and a child. The SHARK2 offers simple handling, impressive stability, and is unsinkable. This also makes it perfect for inexperienced canoeists. Thanks to detailed studies of the central seat, it can also be handled easily by only one person. Available in two versions BASIC and SPORT equipped with removable waterproof storage, seat and legs supports.

KOBER - LAGO ATT LIGHT

The top model of Kober's ATT (Advanced Thermoplast Technology) touring paddle series, it combines seemingly incompatible characteristics like high abrasion resistance at a very low weight. The ATT cavity system is using the following advantages: Low weight (up to 20% lighter), thin blades, so less power is needed. Lightweight blades generate less centrifugal force and leverage, so paddles can be moved with less effort. The combination of fibre reinforced polypropylen blades and a super light weight carbon shaft will open new dimensions. Made in Germany!

Weight: ca 870 g - Length: 215, 220, 230, 240 cm - Blade size: 44,5 x 17,7 cm
